

Song Cards

Singing as a group with your baby playgroup allows you to share and learn new songs. Songs with numbers and actions are fun for the babies and maintain their interest.

Many of the songs we have included allow for the babies to learn about simple concepts, movements and numbers.

Singing is the beginning of language. By using interactive songs, concepts are taught and musical play helps with the physical development of fine and gross (large) motor skills.

Repetition is important. It is how babies learn and remember new information.

Create a Song Box:

On pieces of card, draw an icon that represents a particular song. On the back of the card, write the words to the song, or just the song name. This activity will allow your baby to be involved in the selection of the songs that you sing together.

The song box can be added to as you and your baby learn more songs.
